Rationale for Classification:

This young black female was found dead in an abandoned movie theater partially clad with her breasts and genital exposed bent at the upper back over a seat and freezer case. The autopsy reveals minor abrasions on the lower back, right shoulder and right forearm. There was no gross or microscopic evidence of trauma.

Toxicology revealed low levels of cocaine $< 0.10 \mu\text{g}/\text{L}$ in heart blood and low levels of benzoylgonine $0.5 \mu\text{g}/\text{L}$ in heart blood. Social history consists of cocaine abuse and prostitution.

Ongoing investigation suggests foul play in the fact that the deceased body is in a bizarre position with scrape marks on the back that are inconsistent with the final position of the body, cocaine abuse, past history of prostitution and pattern of young black females that have been found partially clad and dead.

although there was no evidence of trauma it is possible through manual manipulation to temporarily deprive the brain of its blood supply and induce a state of unconsciousness or death.

Suspect is linked to 19th slaying

By DONNA GEHRKE
Herald Staff Writer

Charles Henry Williams, already the prime suspect in the slayings of 18 inner-city women, has been linked to the murder of another: a 20-year-old who, like three other victims, was seen with him on her last day alive.

Sandra Jackson, only four foot eight and 84 pounds, was alone with six-foot-three Williams, a convicted rapist known

Williams for choking his victims, on March 23 after the two had visited with Jackson's cousin. Her body was found the next day in a wooded vacant lot at Northwest 13th Place and 38th Street.

Williams "was one of the last individuals seen with her alive," said

Convicted rapist linked to 19th slaying

WILLIAMS, FROM 1B

Tony Rodriguez, Miami homicide detective.

Like many of the 18 other victims, Jackson was found nude and asphyxiated in Northwest Dade, lying on her back with her legs spread.

Homicide detectives believe Williams, a baby-faced former maintenance worker, may be responsible for the 19 slayings — and perhaps more — because the methods of murder are strikingly similar.

"We've never had this many that seemed to fall into a pattern," said Dr. Joseph Davis, Dade's medical examiner.

Williams, 33, has been in the Dade County Jail for the past six months but has not been charged in any of the murders. He was charged with two counts of rape unrelated to the slayings. Metro and Miami homicide detectives say they don't have enough proof — even though he first murder came under investigation more than a year ago.

Williams has admitted to police that he knew some of the victims, but he has steadfastly denied killing anyone.

The slayings stopped once Williams was jailed in early April on the rape charges.

The first of the 19 victims — 18 of them black and one Hispanic — was found dead in July 1987.

Jackson was victim No. 15. The bodies of four other women were found before Williams was arrested in early April. Miami police did not disclose Jackson's connection to Williams and the other homicide victims until detectives recently gave depositions in court.

Jackson, a former cook in a sandwich shop, went by the name Sonia because she hated her given name. "She was my sweet baby," said her boyfriend Kirk Stevens, the father of her 2-year-old son, also named Kirk.

Like many of the other 18 victims, Jackson was a drug addict "doing tricks for crack," her family told investigators.

Just before her murder, she was desperately trying to break her crack habit, said Vincent Lawrence, a distant relative who unsuccessfully tried to find a rehabilitation program for her. "I couldn't find anything free for her," he said.

On March 24, a man working in his yard found Jackson's strangled body next door in an overgrown lot in the Brownsville neighborhood. A brown coat covered her nude body. Her shoes were found nearby.

In the next 11 days, four more bodies of women were found. Two of them had been badly beaten and strangled, as Jackson was.

On March 26, the body of Angela Williams, 23, was found in an open field at Northwest 21st Avenue and 68th Street. The killer had beaten her face, breaking her jaw and teeth.

A week later, in another vacant lot at Northwest 23rd Avenue and 46th Street, children found the body of Brenda Hernandez, 24, whose chest and neck were battered like Jackson's.

Williams was picked up near the Hernandez murder site by homicide detectives a day after the body was found.

As in Jackson's case, witnesses saw Williams with Hernandez on the last day of her life.

Jailers later found scratches on Williams' back and fresh bite marks on his penis.

Metro homicide detective Joseph McMahon said Williams readily talked to homicide detectives.

Investigators said Williams told them he had been with some of the victims — but they were alive when he left them.

He said people in the neighborhood who say he is the murderer are picking on him. They didn't like him, Williams complained.

From canvassing Brownsville after the murders, police found at least two women who said they had survived attacks by Williams. The investigators and the alleged victims described the attacks in recent depositions.

One, an admitted prostitute, told McMahon that she had been raped and choked to unconsciousness in March by a man known on the streets as "Bumper" or "Bump."

McMahon showed her a Polaroid of Williams.

"That's him, she said.

She said she hadn't gone to police sooner because she didn't think officers "give a damn about street hookers or prostitutes," McMahon said in a deposition.

The second victim said she was raped by Williams in the Brownsville neighborhood on March 18, six days before Jackson's body was found.

"She said at first he had grabbed her in a choke hold, putting his arm around her neck," Miami homicide detective Frank Castillo said in a deposition. "She said that he had her under control. She couldn't get away from him. The harder she would try to push away, the tighter the choke would get around her neck."

The two women pressed rape charges against Williams. He is scheduled to go to trial Nov. 13. But the trial is likely to be postponed for a third time. Prosecutor Dennis Siegel is planning to be out of the state that week to attend a seminar.

Meanwhile, police remain close-mouthed about the homicide investigation.

Williams' defense attorney, Howard Landau, believes homicide investigators are now conducting genetic DNA tests to see if they can trace back to Williams any body fluids found on the victims. The tests are usually done to connect rapists to their victims, usually through semen.

Despite Landau's objections, the Dade state attorney's office recently obtained a court order to take blood and saliva samples from Williams.

Miami homicide detective Rodriguez wouldn't talk about the genetic tests. "We're following up every avenue that's available to us that can assist us in these investigations," he said.

Rodriguez and John Farrell, Metro chief of detectives, said officers have pursued dozens of leads without the breakthrough they were counting on.

"Unfortunately, we haven't been able to put together anything of significance," Rodriguez said. "It's just a shame. It's a tragedy. I really feel that somebody out there saw or heard something that could help us solve at least one of these cases."

"Serial killers don't stop killing," he said. "They either get arrested, they die or they move somewhere and continue."

THE MIAMI HERALD

SECTION B

Dead women had links to rapist

By DONNA GEHRKE
Herald Staff Writer

Where Charles Henry Williams went, women died.

Four were killed near his family home in Overtown. A fifth was a neighbor. Four more died in a North Dade prostitution zone where the tall baby-faced 32-year-old used to wander. Two others were found just outside the area. And two were murdered in a Brownsville neighborhood where he used to smoke crack.

Williams tells police it's coincidence.

Homicide detectives think it's a pattern.

Police say the convicted rapist is a suspect in these 13 slayings and five others, which date back more than two years. They called a press conference 2½ months ago to announce their suspicion. But they haven't yet charged Convicted rapist Charles Henry Williams, left, says connections to the dead women are a coincidence. Police see a pattern, but they haven't charged Williams with murder.

Williams with murder.

The killings stopped once Williams was jailed last April on two unrelated rape charges.

"He's the best thing we've got," said Metro homicide Sgt. Frank Wesolowski, who heads his department's investigation into 11 of the deaths. "He is the No. 1 suspect."

In recent weeks, The Herald has found more links to Williams and the deaths. Court records and interviews with police, witnesses and victims' families show:

■ At least three victims were seen with Williams on the day they died.

■ Two women who pressed the current rape charges against Williams say he tried to choke them to death in Brownsville — the same neighborhood where two victims died, within the same few weeks.

■ Another woman filed attempted-murder charges against Williams for a choking attack just hours after she had introduced him to one of her friends — who later was found murdered.

■ Williams frequented the same places — a crack den, a prostitution zone — that several of the victims did.

Williams is scheduled to go to trial next week on the two rape charges. The trial might be postponed to give Williams' new court-appointed attorney, Howard Landau, a chance to prepare a defense.

Landau, who helped win an acquittal for Williams in a 1986 rape trial, won't comment on the case or the homicide investigation. Nor will he allow his client to speak to The Herald.

In statements to police, Williams has denied killing the women.

Born in Georgia, he grew up in a neatly kept Overtown townhouse with his mother, brother and sisters.

By 1986, he had been accused of seven rapes — including assaults on two 15-year-old schoolgirls — and was profiled in The Herald as a career criminal who knew how to plea bargain and beat the system.

His accusers describe the same modus operandi: He starts with sweet talk and suddenly turns vicious as he chokes his victims unconscious.

Two years ago when Williams was out of jail, young women started dying mysteriously in his Overtown neighborhood. They were found almost nude, their legs spread and no visible trauma.

Miami cops were puzzled. Initial autopsies turned up a new theory — later debunked by Medical Examiner Joe Davis — that the women died because they combined sex and cocaine once too often.

They were well-known in the Overtown neighborhood as heavy crack-users.

So was Williams.

"He'd say, 'I've got money. Let's get drugs,'" remembered neighbor Audrey Salles.

One of Williams' teen-age neighbors took him up on the offer in April 1988 — and was found dead hours later, said the victim's best friend, Aida Rodriguez, 17.

She said Williams offered her and 16-year-old Sharmanita Grays "some weed" when they went to the Bay Point Motel, 3530 Biscayne Blvd. Later, Rodriguez left her friend with a heavily perspiring, crack-using Williams who wouldn't let her back into the room.

That's the last time Rodriguez saw Grays alive. Her body was found hours later sprawled, legs apart and nearly nude, on a stairwell at the motel.

Rodriguez told Miami homicide investigators her suspicions. Miami police have since refused to discuss the case.

Since then, two other victims were seen with Williams on their last day.

In October 1988, Williams sought sex from prostitute Erica Edwards on the night she died near the hooker zone on Northwest 79th Street, said witness Beverly Gunder James.

She said Williams, identifying himself as "Tony," approached her on Oct. 22, 1988, at the Tropicana Bar, 1057 NW 79th St.

"He came out of the bushes," James said in a telephone interview.

"He asked me where I was going, and I said to the bar. He asked if I 'dated' [slang for hooking], and I said no. He asked if I smoked cocaine and I said no. He asked me if I knew anyone who did.

"I said yes — Erica."

She said she then introduced him to Edwards.

"I said, 'Erica, this is Tony. He seems like a nice guy. Be nice to him.'"

The next morning, Edwards' body was discovered in a nearby field. She had been dead for hours.

That same day, James told police, Williams grabbed her from behind and choked her. "He picked me off the ground and put a hook on me and I couldn't spring loose," she said.

"The man was on top of me," she added. "I was on my stomach."

A neighbor saw the attack and scared him off, she said.

Five days later — and after three more women had been found dead in the area — James spotted Williams at a friend's house near the hooker zone.

Metro police arrested him there on attempted second-degree murder charges.

He was released in early December after prosecutors dropped the case. They couldn't find James. She moved to Oklahoma soon after the assault.

Five months later, Williams was seen with victim Brenda Hernandez on the day she was strangled in an open field in Brownsville, police told her mother, Mercedes Hernandez.

The victim had lived just a few blocks from a crack den near J & J Groceries at 2656 NW 46th St. where Williams hung out.

Two other victims, Barbara Ann

Black and Barbara Lattimore, hung out at the same crack den, several witnesses said. "He liked the girls," remembered store owner John Ben-nett.

Williams was arrested at the crack den when he tried to run from detectives investigating Hernandez's murder.

While canvassing the neighborhood for witnesses, detectives ran into a woman who said Williams had raped her in the same neighborhood two weeks earlier.

She said she was initially fooled by his appearance. "A clean-cut guy," she noted.

She agreed to Williams' offer: $10, two cocaine rocks and half a pound of marijuana for sex. The next thing she knew, he was choking her and forcing her to have sex.

"The man chokes you like he intends to kill you. It's not a choke where he's playing with you at all. He wants to kill you," she said in a sworn statement.

"The look on the guy's face — it totally changed from that nice personality, nice gentleman, hard-working gentleman to a damn maniac," she testified.

Metro detectives charged Williams with rape.

Within a week, Miami police followed with another rape charge. A woman from Brownsville accused Williams of choking and raping her in March.

Since early April, Williams has been in jail, lately in solitary.

"He's there for his own protection based on his notoriety," said Dade Jail Lt. Jim Wood.

Williams passes his days watching TV or talking to another prisoner — Charlie Street, accused killer of two Metro officers.

Williams has impressed Lt. Wood with his politeness and quiet demeanor. "He seems calm and complacent."

THE DADE COUNTY MEDICAL EXAMINER DEPARTMENT, Miami, Florida

Name.LATTIMORE, Barbara Anne 10-28-88 9:45 a.m..Case No. 88-3119

EXTERNAL EXAMINATION:

The body is that of a well developed, poorly nourished, 5 foot 5 inches, 111 pound, adult black female whose appearance is consistent with age of approximately mid-twenties. The scalp is without trauma and covered by thick crop of black kinky hair which is 2 to 3 inches long. The face is without trauma. The irides are brown with equal pupil diameters of 3 millimeters. The conjunctivae are without petechiae. The nose is lined by intact, pink-tan mucosa. The mouth contains native dentition in a poor state of repair. The oral cavity is not obstructed. The neck is straight and atraumatic. The chest has symmetric pendulous breasts. The left breast has a dried exudate exuding from the nipple. The abdomen has stria and is without scarring. The upper and lower extremities are without scarring. Small punctate abrasions are noted over the posterior aspect of the right shoulder and the right forearm. A 1/4 inch area of skin breakdown is noted over the sacral prominence in the posterior surface. The external genitalia are remarkable for dried bloody exudate.

INTERNAL EXAMINATION:

The soft tissues and bone underlying the scalp have no evidence of trauma. The cerebrospinal fluid surrounding the 1100 gram brain is clear and colorless. The vessels at the base of the brain have no arteriosclerosis. No abnormalities are noted within the gray matter, centrum semiovale, midbrain, pons, cerebellum or medulla oblongata. The calvarium and cranium are intact. The dura is intact and without lacerations. The leptomeninges are mildly congested. The pituitary gland is unremarkable, externally and internally.

A stepwise neck dissection reveals no hematoma of the strap muscles of the neck and the hyoid bone, thyroid cartilage, cricothyroid cartilage and larynx are intact without evidence of disease or trauma. The thyroid gland is unremarkable, externally and on sectioning. The tongue is intact and is firm without evidence of trauma.

The serosal cavities contain no abnormal fluids or unusual odors. The ribs and sternum are intact. The long bones of the body are intact without evidence of trauma.

The 280 gram heart has a smooth, glistening surface. The balanced coronary arterial system has no atherosclerosis. The myocardium is brown and has a flabby consistency. The cardiac valve leaflets are normally formed and without vegetations. The foramen ovale is closed. The thoracic and abdominal aorta is intact and without atherosclerosis. The inferior vena cava is unremarkable. The pulmonary artery is unremarkable.

The 560 gram right lung and 480 gram left lung have smooth pleural surfaces and a markedly edematous and congested cut surface. The pulmonary cut surface exudes a large amount of bloody fluid. The bronchi and their branches contain a moderate amount of pink, frothy, edema fluid. The airway linings are brown and lined by a brown, tenacious mucus. The pulmonary arteries are patent.

The 1580 gram liver has an intact, smooth capsule and a sharp anterior margin. The dark brown cut surface is congested and has a normal architecture. The gallbladder contains an estimated 5 milliliters of thick, brown, viscid bile. The lymph nodes at the porta hepatis and the axilla are markedly enlarged. The 130 gram spleen has an intact, smooth, gray capsule and a congested, dark maroon parenchyma. The pink, lobular pancreas has a firm consistency. The adrenal glands are unremarkable, externally and on sectioning.

The esophagus is intact and has a gray-white mucosa. The stomach contains an estimated 100 milliliters of well masticated, partially digested, brown food material. The mucosa of the stomach is pink-brown with normal rugal folds. The small and large intestine and appendix are normal along the serosal surface and mucosa.

The 190 gram right kidney and 170 gram left kidney have smooth subcapsular surfaces. Their dark brown cut surfaces have normal corticomedullary demarcation and proportions. The ureters are thin walled and dilated. The urinary bladder is compressed and contains a measured 5 milliliters of turbid yellow urine. The uterus is gravid and 980 grams. A normally formed and developed male fetus is found within the uterus. The male fetus is 16.5 centimeters in length and weighs 120 grams. The placental tissue and fetal tissue show moderate autolysis. Both ovaries contain hemorrhagic centers and the fallopian tubes are unremarkable.

AUTOPSY FINDINGS:

1. Gravid uterus containing male fetus approximately 4-1/4 months gestation
2. Pulmonary edema and congestion

Explanation of HTLV-III testing results:

Epidemiologic data suggest that acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) is caused by a retrovirus that is horizontally transmitted by exposure to semen, saliva, and blood. The retrovirus belongs to the family of human T-cell lymphotropic virus (HTLV) and is designated as HTLV-III. It has been isolated from patients with AIDS, pre-AIDS, and from healthy individuals at risk for AIDS. The ELISA test and the Western Blot assay do not detect the virus, but rather the antibody to the virus.

Specimens which are repeatably reactive for HTLV-III on ELISA and/or positive on Western Blot are considered positive for antibody to the HTLV-III virus by the criteria established for the tests. Repeatably reactive results on ELISA have a high correlation with positive results on Western Blot, although there is not 100% correlation. The relative sensitivities and specificities of the ELISA and Western Blot assay have not been established. The Public Health Service and the American Red Cross Blood Services, South Florida Region have prepared a pamphlet for individuals found to be positive for the antibody. This pamphlet is available on request by calling 326-6663.

SCENE OBSERVATIONS

DATE: October 27, 1988
LOCATION: 2700 N.W. 87th Street
TIME ARRIVED AT SCENE: 10:40 a.m.
POLICE AGENCY: Metro Dade Police Department
LEAD INVESTIGATOR: Det. Nazario

INITIAL INFORMATION:

Two passersby were walking by an abandoned drive-in theater at approximately 8:30 a.m. and saw the deceased through a broken window. The police were notified and discovered a young black woman, partially clothed, within the abandoned building.

OBSERVATIONS OF SURROUNDINGS:

The scene takes places at an abandoned drive-in theater at the above address. This theater is obscured from site by passersby on the roads of 27th Avenue and 87th Street. The lot is littered with trash in the form of abandoned cars and trucks. The building appears to be a dilapidated concession stand which has been previously burned. Recent graffitti has been painted on the outside of the building. On the inside, the burned out restrooms and concession area are littered with drug paraphernalia including plastic pipes, razor blades, plastic bags, cigarette butts and discarded articles of clothing.

OBSERVATIONS OF VICTIM(S):

The victim was found in a small room leaning against the remains of a cooler. The victim was leaning on her back and is partially clad in a blue jeans that are around the left ankle, black sheer underwear, also around the left ankle, and a bra and sleeveless top that had been pulled above the breast.

The victim's body is warm to the touch and rigor mortis is mild in the jaw and joints of the upper extremities. There is a serosanguineous exudate coming from the left nipple and is dry along the left chest and axilla. A dry bloody discharge is noted around the external genitalia. There is no obvious sign of trauma on the victim.

SCENE IMPRESSION INCLUDING PROBABLE CAUSE AND MANNER OF DEATH:

Fatality due to possible drug overdose.

NOTE: The foregoing is of a speculative nature and subject to modification pending additional information and investigation.
